GENERAL ORDERS No. 36 .- The publication of this order in the several newspapers of this city yesterday and to day affords the proof of what we on Friday asserted respecting the finding of the late Court-Martial and the approval by the President. General Talcott, without authority, and in defiance of the will of the Secretary of War, authorized Col. Huger, of the Fort Monroe Arsenal, to purchase of Dr. Carmichael, of Richmond, a large quantity of shot and shells, and in his official capacity subsequently confirmed this purchase. Dr. Carmichael, having made application to the Secretary for such a contract, in the presence of General Talcott, was refused, and therefore knew the nature of the transaction he was making. When he obtained the order, instead of fulfilling it himself he caused it to be done by J. R. Anderson, proprietor of the Tredegar Iron Works, at Richmoud, receiving $6,500 for his bargain. It appears also that when asked by was true, Gen. T. replied that "there was not a word of truth in it."

Five hundred tons of shot and shell at 3 cents 31 mills per pound, was the extent of the order given by Colonel Huger, which amounts to $87 240

The charges preferred were three in number 1. "Violation of the 132d article of the Regulations for the government of the Ordnanc Department.

2. "Wilful disobedience of Orders and Instructions from the Secretary of War in relation to a contract for supplies.'

3. "Conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman." A verdict of guilty was found upon each on of them, and upon each specification under them, with two unimportant exceptions. We extract from the published order:

SENTENCE. And the Court does sentence him, Brevel Brigadier General George Talcott, Colonel the Ordnance Department, " to be dismissed the

11. In conformity with the 65th of the Rule and Articles of War, the proceedings of the general court-martial in the foregoing case have been transmitted to the President of the United States.

The following is the decision thereon:

"EXECUTIVE MANSION, July 8, 1851. "The foregoing proceedings of the court-martial for the trial of Brevet Brigadier General George Talcott having been laid before me, and having been by me duly examined and considered, I hereby confirm the same. "MILLARD FILLMORE."

III. Brevet Brigadier General George Talcott accordingly ceases to be an officer of the army

In reviewing these proceedings the President has seen with regret, and feeis constrained to notice, the irregularity and negligence which, throughout the transaction in which they origi-nated, characterized the conduct of Brevet Colonel Huger, commander of the Fort Monroe Arsenal. The confidence naturally reposed by him in the head of his corps, furnishes undoubt edly some apology for his course, but cannot

The President deems it proper, particularly to express his disapprobation of all private correspondence on official business. Such a practice not only prevents the preservation of a distinct and intelligible record of any transaction, so indispensable in a Government where public agents are liable to be frequently changed, but incompatible with the admitted accountability of every officer employed in the disbursement of public moneys.

IV. The General Court-Martial, of which

Brevet Major General Twiggs is President, is By command of the President:

R. JONES, Adjutant General.

The President appears to us to travel out of the record in condemning Col. Huger, but he doubtless knows well what he is about, and we feel assured that justice is his aim.

His remarks respecting the private correct pondence of men in official stations on official business are very important, and the people of . the United States would be great gainers if the time when royalty shall be worn out. they could understand the extent of the abuses practised in this manner.

It is proper here to remark, that General Talcott's deience was that he had given an order, and not made a contract, and that the usage of the Department authorized this. The Secretary does not appear to see the difference, in effect, between the two modes of purchase.

FALSE REPORTS .- For the first time since we have been before the public we have been ac cused of misrepresenting facts, and that with reference to the Talcott trial. The result shows who was right! We hope our friends and contemporaries will have charity. To be prompt in revealing truths is sometimes mistaken for a regardlessness of truth. Our readers, however, will bear witness that we do not mislead

THE SECRETARY OF STATE .- To PE resign? That is the question!—The despatch from this city to the Courier and Enquirer looked truthful and circumstantial. It was preceded by an announcement in our paper of the condition of the health of Mr. Webster, which an nouncement we know was based upon authentic information. The denial of the intention to resign, however, is made in an authoritative form in both the administration papers of this city. Now, we cannot doubt the veracity of these journals, nor of him who authorizes them to speak-while "Observer," the occasional correspondent of the Courier, may have been mistaken; and yet we will venture the prediction that Mr. Webster will resign at a very early day, and, if we are not greatly deceived in our conjecture, "Observer" procured his information from a distinguished gentleman of Pennsylvania, an intimate friend of Mr. W., who was here recently, and is known to have had many long interviews with that high functionary. That Mr. W. avowed to that gentleman such a determination, and afterward changed his mind, as he had a perfect right to do, is more than possible; or that he expressed his determination to resign on the occurrence of some probable event, is not unlikely. But we have no certain information on the subject, and, with the rest of the human race, shall philosophically await the results of time.

Mechanics.

The following letter has been addressed to the chairman of a committee of the Norfolk mechanics by the Secretary of the Navy:

"NAVY DEPARTMENT, "Washington, July 8, 1851.

"SIR: I am gratified to acknowledge the rebargain. It appears also that when asked by the Secretary of War whether the report that had reached the Department of this purchase of the mechanics and laborers of the Gosport navy yard, pertaining to recent discoveries of public property which had been abstracted from the yard and found in the possession of persons in its vicinity, which copy was forwarded by Captain Stringham, in compliance with the re-quest of the meeting. And I cannot but ex-press my admiration of the high tone of morality and sensibility of character which pervades the proceedings of the members of your meeting; nor can I doubt that they will render to the Government every assistance in their power in discovering the perpetrators of the offence.

"All communities are likely to be disturbed by the crimes of individuals, but no just imputation can attach to a man of honest fame sir ply from the commission of a crime in his neigh-borhood. Not only the legal presumption is against it, but all the charities and better feelings of human nature.

"I am, very respectfully, your obedient servet, "WILL. A. GRAHAM. ant. "Mr. JESSE CULPEPER, Chairman, &c., Norfolk. Va.

Mr. Graham is not deceived in the estimate of "the high tone of morality and sensibility of character" he has been induced by their proceed ings to attribute to the men he addresses through Mr. Culpeper. By the faithful discharge of their duties, by the protection they will give to the public property, as well as by their implicit obedience to all orders addressed to them in a right spirit, they will ever show themselves worthy the confidence of the Department. We speak with intimate knowledge of the character of these men, and the motives that actuate

FENIMORE COOPER .- The Tribune of Saturday publishes a letter from Coopertown, dated the

His situation, therefore, is by no means so precarious as your article would lead his friends and the public to believe."

WISE'S BALLOONING .- Mr. John Wise, of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, made his one hundred and twentieth balloon ascension at Columbus, Ohio. on the fourth. He ascended beautifully to the height of one mile, but owing to a leak in his balloon could not stay up long. While up he tried some experiments relative to falling bodies. board, about three feet long by six inches wide, they assumed a revolution around their longer axis, and a gyratory motion in a circle of about two hundred feet diameter. THE HOME AND GRAVE OF THE AUTHOR OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE .- A COL respondent of the Uniontown Democrat, who has recently visited Monticello, the residence of Jefferson, thus describes it: Jefferson, thus describes it:

"The interior of the house is just as Jefferson left it, except the furniture, which is all gone, save some paintings, mirrors, &c. The house, both outside and inside, bears all the evidences of neglect and decay, but it still retains all its fair proportions; and its venerable outline, grown gray and mossy by time and neglect, perhaps adds, rather than otherwise, to its appearance, particularly to a stranger. And the venerable aspen trees growing around throw a kind of melancholy over every thing, that seems to whisper in your ear, and point you about three hundred yards down into the woods, to the grave of him who planted them—to the hundred yards in a preserve that ever held the est grave in appearance that ever held th ashes of human greatness. I made a sketch over it.

"I enclose you a little flower from a branch of vines said to have been planted by Jefferson himself, beneath the window of the room in which he died; they have spread all over the side of the house.

PARROTT VS. PORT .- William S. Parrott, esq. who received an award under the late Board of Commissioners on claims against Mexico, is the gentleman, we understand, who first divulged the fact that A. J. Port, esq., formerly of Mexico, had informed him of a confession made to him by Dr. George A. Gardiner, in New York, the night before Gardiner sailed for Europe, that the Gardiner claim was all a forgery.

Mr. Port has come on to this city, and, in letter published in the "Union" of yesterday, he declares that he never has made to anybody such a declaration relative to Dr. Gardiner's confession as he has been charged with.

In the mean time, the New York Herald, of Saturday last, states that two gentlemen of character and probity have authorized the editor of that paper to say, that to each of them Mr. Port did make the statement relative to Dr. Gardiner's confession, which he has been charged with.

One of these two gentlemen is probably Mr. Parrott, who is expected to be in this city today. So the crisis is at hand, and the public will soon be able to decide between Parrott and Port advisedly.

Later .- Mr. Port is to-day before the Grand Jury. Parrott has not been reached by the summons issued for his appearance. The opinion prevails at the Court-house that upon the reception of Port's testimony the case will be dismissed.

P. S. The Union of yesterday failed to reach us until the hour of our going to press, or we should have copied entire the article it contains on the subject of this "Gardiner Claim."

CRIMINAL COURT .- A petty case was tried this morning, and some poor female wretch convicted of disorder of some sort. It is probable the Court will to-day or to ACTING ANOTHER PART .- The Buffalo Courier states that Mr. Silsbee, the well-known Yankee comedian, has received the appointment of bearer of despatches to Europe, and sails on the 19th instant in the steamer Pacific. Will the Courier inform us whether this is duty of honor, trust, or profit?

SINGULAR EFFECTS OF A STORM .- The storm which prevailed with more or less violence over a large part of this county, on the evening of the 29th ultimo, left in the township of Hunt-ington a very amusing and, withal, malicious evidence of its power.

The family of a Mr. Gross had retired to rest as usual in the evening, and, wrapped in the conscious of the mischievous pranks of the storm-king. On opening the door next morning, Mr. G. was bewildered by the altered appearance and position of things around him, and at first imagined that he was in his barn instead of house. Yet, there was the fireplace, and standing in it the barrel of soap made the day previous, the chairs, the cat upon the earthstone, and all the utensils of the kitchen Assured from this survey that there was some hing wrong with either his head or his house he presently discovered that the barn, or shed, had been entirely demolished—blown away by the storm; and that the house, a frame dwelling, had been lifted from its foundation and arried across the road, a distance of eighty feet, and set down upon the spot where the barn had stood. Not one of the family had barn had stood. Not one of the family had been awakened by the shock, the barrel of soap had not been disturbed; pails, dishes, and tables seemed all unconscious of change; and, upon examination at the point where the house stood, in its migration, it must have crossed the road, though there was not a mark or evidence that any reluctant plank or board had dragged on the ground.—Carbondale Transcript.

NATIONAL HALL.

THE Proprietors, Messrs. Yalk & Bascher, would inform the citizens of Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, that there will be exhibited at the National Itali, on Wednesday evening, July 18, A BEAUTFUL MODEL OF MOUNT VERNON, in all its beauty as when occupied by Gen. George Washington, and improvements by the present proprietor, Mr. J. A. Washington. There will also be exhibited a Map of the entire Farm, occupying eight thousand scree of land.

This Model covers the space of one hundred and forty equare feet, and contains twenty-two buildings. The proportions of the buildings, &c., are one quarter of an inch to the foot. This model was built by Mr. R. Yale, who spent several months at Mount Vernon making drawings and working upon the model; and through the kindness of Mr. J. A. Washington, Mr. Yale has had such information, &c., as that his model may be relied upon as strictly correct and true to mature. To view this model and see the Tomb of Washington and the beautiful trees, cardens, gravel walks, &c., so beautifully portrayed, the beholder would imagine himself at once at Mount Vernon viewing the spot that was the peaceful home of he great and illustrious Washington—the Father of his Jountry. Mr. R. Yale would inform the public that he has not spared expense or trouble to make his model worthy of their patronage. The proprietors would inform the public that the above model will be exhibited in Washington but a few days, to afford the citizens and schools an opportunity of viewing this beautiful work of art, as they intend only to exhibit their if die in the principal cities in the United States prior to its departure for Europe.
